

Accounting, BS (CUS)

Program Information

College	School
College of Undergraduate Studies	School of Business and Leadership
The Bachelor of Science in Accounting provides students the breadth and depth of accounting knowledge necessary to prepare them for the increased demand for accounting majors in all industries. Demand for accounting graduates is stable even during economic downturns. With the emergence of corporate financial scandals, the demand for accounting majors with high ethical standards has increased.

The program in accounting focuses on the following:

- Financial and Managerial Accounting and Reporting: Demonstrate effective application of GAAP for business enterprises, not-for-profit organizations, and governmental entities.
- Auditing & Attestation: Demonstrate effective application of U.S. GAAS for attest engagements and knowledge of auditing procedures.
- Regulation: Demonstrate application of knowledge pertaining to federal taxation, AICPA & PCAOB Codes of Ethics, Principles and Standards, professional and legal responsibilities, Sarbanes-Oxely, and business law.
- Integration of Faith and Learning: Research and apply scripture to resolve ethical dilemmas resulting from accounting issues.

By carefully selecting 500-level elective credits, accounting students can also earn up to 18 credit hours toward their CCU MBA degree while finishing their undergraduate accounting degree at no additional cost or time to graduation.

Students in the Bachelor of Science in Accounting major may apply for the CUS Dual Degree Programs, earning both their Accounting major and courses that can be applied toward the Business Administration, MBA (CAGS) with an emphasis in Advanced Accounting, or the Accounting, MS (CAGS) in the College of Adult and Graduate Studies (CAGS). Additional information on the Accounting Dual Degree program can be found under the 'Program Requirements' tab.

Students who major in Accounting have a wide range of choices for successful and rewarding careers in banking; corporate finance & accounting; management; nonprofit organizations; educational institutions; governmental entities as well as in Public Accounting.

The Accounting Major requires completion of the following 120 credits:

- General Education (48 credit hours)
- Business Core (34 credit hours)
- Accounting Major Core (24 credit hours)
- Accounting Electives (6 credit hours)
- General Electives (up to 8 credit hours)

Augustine Honors Minor/Emphasis (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Humanities and Social Sciences

The Augustine Honors Minor and Augustine Honor Emphasis are designed to work within the framework of CCU's existing General Education curriculum, enabling students to satisfy general education requirements through Great Books courses while earning the minor or emphasis in the Augustine Honors program.

The Augustine Honors Minor and Emphasis are academically rigorous programs that fosters interdisciplinary learning and research scholarship. The heart of the Augustine Honors program is the experience of intense communal learning centered on the reading and discussion of Great Books. The liberal arts curriculum explores the disciplines of History, Literature, Politics, and Rhetoric, with a view to developing students' liberal arts skills and integrating their observations and insights into their character and personal beliefs. The core courses fulfill some requirements for the General Education curriculum and provide a minor or emphasis. The Augustine Honors program as a whole is only available to Distinguished Scholarship recipients who attend World Changers Weekend.

Because of the distinctive curriculum that comprises the Augustine Honors program, students are limited in the coursework that can be transferred in to satisfy program requirements. To earn the Augustine Honors Minor, students must complete at least four of the required courses at CCU, and may transfer in a three or four credit hour course to satisfy the final requirement. To earn the Augustine Honors Emphasis, students must complete all of the required courses at CCU.

Biblical Exegesis and Linguistics, BA (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Theology

The Bachelor of Arts in Biblical Exegesis and Linguistics emphasizes informed interpretation and skilled translation of the Scriptures. This degree equips individuals for intercultural ministry assignments as a field linguist (missionary living in location with non-existing Christian witness) or translation advisor (missionary supporting translation efforts in locations where an indigenous church exists). The degree is comprised of four content domains: 1) foundational principles of applied linguistics, 2) hermeneutical strategies for biblical interpretation rooted in the historical-grammatical tradition, 3) intermediate linguistic skills in one of the biblical languages (Hebrew or Greek), and 4) practical skills for effective service as a cross-cultural missionary.

The BA in Biblical Exegesis and Linguistics is offered in partnership with Dallas International University (DIU), a regionally accredited institution with highly-qualified faculty members, most of whom have performed extensive fieldwork in the areas of applied anthropology and linguistics. Students in this major will earn 16 credit hours of applied linguistics at Dallas International University, either through a semester on location at DIU or through synchronous online courses with DIU. All DIU course tuition and fees are paid directly to DIU. CCU academic scholarships cannot be applied to tuition charges for off-campus enrollment.

The Biblical Exegesis and Linguistics Major requires completion of the following 120 credits:

Biblical Archaeology Minor (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Theology

For over a century, biblical archaeology has proven to be a fruitful branch of study as archaeologists have shed light on the people and places of the Bible. Ruins, artifacts, inscriptions, and other remains help us understand the historical and cultural world in which the biblical events unfolded and out of which the Bible itself was written. The Biblical Archaeology Minor deepens student understanding of the Bible through a study of archaeology and historical geography, equips students to approach the archaeological evidence from a biblical worldview, provides an apologetic for the reliability of the Bible, and trains students in archaeological field work.

The Biblical Archaeology minor includes coursework completed on campus and participation in excavations in the Middle East or the Mediterranean basin. The minor is an introduction to graduate studies in archaeology for those who wish to pursue a career in this field.

Students may earn a minor in the field by completing the 18 credit hours listed under the 'Program Requirements' tab.

Students interested in the biological sciences who desire to pursue professional or graduate work in those disciplines need a broad background in biology. This degree prepares students for work within the biological sciences at the bachelor's level. It also fulfills the requirements of most graduate programs leading to a master's degree or doctorate.

There can be no double major within the Biological Science Majors, i.e., you may not declare a double major with Health Sciences and Biology or with Biology and Pre-Medical Profession or with Health Sciences and Pre-Medical Profession.

Completion Requirement

Dual Degree option

Students accepted in the Dual Degree program complete their Bachelor of Arts in Biblical Studies with Languages degree in three years, then complete their Master of Arts in Biblical Studies in their fourth year through the College of Adult and Graduate Studies (CAGS). Included in the bachelor's degree course requirements are nine master's level credit hours that satisfy both undergraduate and graduate degree requirements. To satisfy CCU graduate program course requirements, students must earn a letter grade of B- or better in the master's level courses taken in their undergraduate degree. (Cum GPA and letter grade requirements for the undergraduate degree remain the same.) All admissions requirements of the Master of Arts in Biblical Studies must be fulfilled. Information on admissions can be found on the CCU admissions page (CAGS Admission Information).

The Bachelor of Arts in Biblical Studies with Languages Dual Degree Major requires completion of the following 120 credits.

General Education (45 credit hours)

Major Core (39 credit hours)

Master of Arts in Biblical Studies coursework (9 credit hours)

Electives (27 credit hours)

The Master of Arts in Biblical Studies requires completion of an additional 30 credit hours.

Graduation Requirements

The faculty recommends students in the B.A. in Biblical Studies with Languages to the Board of Trustees as candidates for graduation when they have completed the following requirements.

1. Completion of a total of 120 credits, including all general education, electives, and Biblical Studies with Languages major program requirements.
2. A letter grade of D or better and a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or better in all CCU coursework, and a GPA of 2.0 or higher for all courses specified for the major.
3. Completion of 180 hours of ministry/community service and 180 chapel credits. Transfer students are required to complete 45 hours of ministry/community service and 45 chapel credits each year of attendance at CCU. For further details on ministry/community service, see the Life Directions Center (LDC) tab under the CUS Student Life page of this catalog. For further details on chapel credits, see the Campus Ministries section on the CUS Student Life page of this catalog.
4. Meet the CCU Residency Requirement (see CUS Academic Policies).
5. Acceptable performance on exit exams, as required by the faculty.
6. Formal and timely application for graduation by the date specified by the University Registrar.
7. No outstanding financial obligation to the University.

Business Administration and Management, BS (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Business and Leadership

The Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Business Administration and Management is designed for students seeking a breadth of business training and careers involving the various aspects of business and organizational effort. The courses offered in this degree train the student in foundational areas with a measured depth of integrated understanding in all aspects of business.

To enhance the degree, Business Administration and Management students must select at least one of the following: a second SBL major, an SBL minor, or an SBL emphasis (such as Accounting, Marketing, or Management). Please see all of the emphasis options under the 'Program Requirements' tab, and major/minor options on the School of Business and Leadership (CUS) page.

The Business Administration and Management major requires completion of a minimum of 120 credit hours, including:

General Education (48 credit hours)

Business Core (34 credit hours)

Emphasis (12 credit hours) OR SBL Minor (18 credit hours minimum) OR SBL second major (30 credit hours minimum; excluding Outdoor Leadership)

General Electives (varies upon selection of emphasis, minor, or second major)

Accounting Emphasis (12 credit hours)

Complete ALL of the following Courses:

- ACC300 - Managerial Cost Accounting
- ACC302 - Intermediate Accounting I
- ACC305 - Design and Audit of Internal Controls
- ACC306 - Individual Taxation

An emphasis in Accounting provides graduates a strong basis to understanding how to use and interpret financial information in organizations. The use of financial information is a key source of strategic actions and decisions in organizations. Graduates who possess such skills and knowledge will find it very conducive to another selected business or non-business emphasis.

Computer Information Systems Emphasis (12 credit hours)

Complete ALL of the following Courses:

- CIS130 - Programming Foundations I
- CIS137 - Web Design Fundamentals
- CIS230 - Programming Foundations II
- CIS326 - Database Administration and Implementation

The emphasis in Computer Information Systems is designed for business administration major students seeking careers related to the field of information systems. The CIS emphasis can significantly increase marketability for business majors. Proficient usage of computers in day-to-day business functions is now viewed as a critical skill for success in any business environment. Having a CIS emphasis adds skills and abilities employers need, and it can differentiate graduates from those without it.

Economics Emphasis (12 credit hours)

Complete ALL of the following Courses:

- BUS370 - International Business
- ECO497 - Special Topics
OR ECO297 - Special Topics
OR ECO397 - Special Topics
- ECO315 - Economic Development
- ECO500 - Economic Analysis for Public Policy

The Economics emphasis builds on the foundation of the core economics course and provides in-depth study of economics. The study of economics provides students with the knowledge required to be competent citizens who actively participate in economics affairs and decision-making.

Finance Emphasis (12 credit hours)

Complete ALL of the following Courses:

- FIN307 - Personal Financial Planning
- FIN320 - Investments & Portfolio Management
- FIN411 - Financial Management Strategies
- FIN502 - Financial Institutions & Monetary Policy
OR FIN421 - Financial Technologies and Innovation

The emphasis in finance provides students the essential knowledge and practice-oriented skills associated with financial management. Courses in the specialization focus on investments, markets, and small business finance through the applications of financial analysis, capital management, and cash management. Financial analysis will cover the skills and techniques for organizations and market institutions. Capital and cash management will focus on the application of strategies and models for capital acquisitions and cash flows.

International Business Emphasis (12 credit hours)

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Required (9 credit hours)

Complete ALL of the following Courses:

- BUS370 - International Business

The Marketing emphasis program builds on the foundation of the business core courses and then provides in-depth study of marketing concepts, advertising theory, consumer behavior, public relations and publicity, market research, strategic marketing management, Internet marketing, and e-commerce.

Pre-Law Studies Emphasis (12 credit hours)

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Required Core (6 credit hours)

Complete ALL of the following Courses:

- LAW212 - Legal Reasoning and Writing
- LAW217 - Constitutional Law

AND

Choose 6 credit hours

Earn at least 6 credits from the following:

- LAW311 - Moot Court Team
- LAW429 - Legal Issues in Nonprofit Organizations
- LAW501 - Legal Issues in Management

The Pre-Law Studies emphasis helps students to determine if they have an aptitude and interest in law and provides a background for law school coursework. This emphasis helps students build a strong liberal arts education with challenging courses that require them to analyze and evaluate conflicting ideas and to communicate effectively orally and in writing. The Pre-Law emphasis is designed to complement Accounting and Business Administration majors and to help students determine if they should invest in further education in law school.

Entrepreneurship Emphasis (12 credit hours)

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Required (9 credit hours)

Complete ALL of the following Courses:

- ENT155 - Introduction to Entrepreneurship
- BUS285 - New Venture Creation/Business Modeling
- FIN385 - New Venture Finance Strategies

AND

Required (3 credit hours)

Choose 3 credit hours from the following:

- BUS-305 OR
- any internship OR
- any Special Topics course

An emphasis in Entrepreneurship equips students to innovate within a business and have the essential tools to start their own business. Students will know how to generate and evaluate business ideas, build business plans, and understand what avenues are available to finance their entrepreneurial endeavors.

Small Business Ownership Emphasis (12 credit hours)

Fulfill ALL of the following requirements:

Required (9 credit hours)

Complete ALL of the following Courses:

- ENT155 - Introduction to Entrepreneurship
- LED301 - Personal Life of the Leader
- FIN321 - Real Estate and Mortgage Finance
- OR FIN307 - Personal Financial Planning

AND

Required (3 credit hours)

Choose 3 credit hours from the following:

- BUS-305 OR
- any internship OR
- any Special Topics course

The Small Business Ownership emphasis prepares students who want to be self-employed in occupations such as Real Estate Agent, Consultant, Financial Planner, or run some other type of small business. Students will receive a solid education in writing business plans, setting vision/goals, and will be challenged to be a self-starter and excel at self-leadership. This emphasis also offers options so students can specialize their emphasis to prepare them best for the kind of business they wish to enter.

Church History Minor (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Theology

The Church History minor provides focused study in the history of the Christian Church from the first century to contemporary developments. This interdisciplinary program provides students with a foundation of core classes along with the flexibility to choose electives, fostering a broad perspective or focused depth, and offers an opportunity to integrate studies in theology and history within the liberal arts tradition. This minor uniquely equips students for graduate study in the field as well as for informed, faithful service in the church.

Students may earn a minor in the field by completing the 18 credit hours listed under the 'Program Requirements' tab and any required prerequisites.

The Bachelor of Science degree with a major in Computer Information Systems is designed for students seeking careers as information systems professionals. The CIS major emphasizes practical application of classroom learning through individual and group lab experiences as well as praxis projects with real-world clients. With a strong emphasis on technology solutions for business, the CIS major offers a distinctive balance between technical challenges and managerial issues. CIS majors master the standard business core courses in addition to their technical skills. Technological emphasis is placed on a variety of modern programming languages, data structures, distributed data processing, database management, networks and data communications, and information systems organization and design. Each CIS course is intended to prepare students to take a specific industry recognized certification exam covering the topics taught in that course. By carefully selecting 500-level elective credits, computer information systems students can also earn up to 15 credit hours toward their CCU Business Administration, MBA (CAGS) degree while finishing their undergraduate computer information systems degree at no additional cost or time to graduation. The Computer Information Systems Major requires completion of the following 120 credit hours: General Education (48 credit hours) Business Core (34 credit hours) CIS Major Requirements (27 credit hours) Electives (11 credit hours)

Communication, BA (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Humanities and Social Sciences

The Bachelor of Arts in Communication equips students to be authentic, ethical, and effective communicators in a variety of interpersonal, group, organizational, and public settings. Developing a wide range of many of the skills most valuable for today's workforce, including critical analysis, decision making, teamwork, relationship building, and more, a degree in Communication prepares students for a wide range of careers in business, ministry, education and law. Students are also well prepared for graduate work in communication, organizational management, law, and related fields.

Graduates of the Communication major will be able to:

1. Develop and deliver effective, visually-appealing presentations using appropriate technology.
2. Demonstrate writing proficiency across various modes of writing for both academic and professional contexts.
3. Explain how communication creates, sustains, manages, and changes persons, groups, organizations, and society, and use that knowledge in an ethical manner.
4. Apply communication theories and skills to various communicative situations (e.g., developing healthy, supportive relationships, participating in and leading teams, solving problems and making decisions, managing conflict, etc....)
5. Demonstrate an ability to analyze messages and interactions, connect to classic and contemporary communication theories, conduct qualitative and quantitative research, and articulate the applicability of research skills.
6. Integrate faith with communication knowledge and skills.

The Communication major has three specific emphases, Organizational Leadership, Interpersonal Relationships, and Professional Speaking, as well as a general emphasis, each of which positions graduates to be effective and strategic communicators in their chosen profession.

Students are encouraged to sharpen their speaking, critical thinking, and writing skills by competing on our inter-collegiate speech and debate and moot court teams, as well as joining the staff of our student media publications, CougMedia.

The minor in Computer Information Systems is designed for students seeking careers related to the field of information systems. The CIS minor can significantly increase marketability for accounting and business administration majors. Proficient usage of computers in day-to-day business functions is now viewed as a critical skill for success in any business environment. Having a CIS minor adds skills and abilities beyond a student's major that employers need, and it can differentiate graduates from those without it.

Criminal Justice Law and Practice, BA (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Humanities and Social Sciences

The Criminal Justice Law and Practice Bachelor of Arts provides the student with a foundational understanding of the three major areas of the criminal justice system: law enforcement, courts, and corrections. "Justice" is a concept that has layers of theological and cultural meanings, and this program helps set a biblical foundation with a Christian worldview to the concepts and practice of justice. The program is designed to prepare students for careers in criminal justice and entering advanced programs in law enforcement and legal studies. The curriculum of the program provides students with a strong foundation for successful careers in various fields of the criminal justice profession. Such career fields include law enforcement, prosecution, criminal defense, courts, corrections, probation, parole and other governmental agencies as they relate to social order.

The program features extensive experiential learning opportunities with guest speakers from various criminal justice disciplines, field trips, law enforcement ride-alongs, shadow days, mock oral boards, and real life training opportunities. The internship program gives senior students on-site experience through placement in internships with local agencies including police departments, sheriff offices, probation departments, prosecutors' offices, and other agencies.

Graduates of the Criminal Justice Law and Practice major will be able to:

1. Apply critical thinking skills to the human condition and the role of law in society, all within the context of the criminal justice profession.
2. Apply a biblical worldview for lifelong service and leadership in the criminal justice profession.
3. Be prepared for entering advanced programs in law enforcement and legal studies, as well as for successful careers in criminal justice, including such career fields as law enforcement, courts, corrections, probation, parole, and other governmental agencies as they relate to social order.

Students who enroll in the Criminal Justice Law and Practice program familiarize themselves with the experience and life history requirements of the law enforcement agencies in which they hope to one day work, and ensure they meet those standards.

Computer Science, BS (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Science and Engineering

The Bachelor of Science degree in Computer Science equips students with the required technical skills and provides a broad and deep knowledge of application development, theory, and design for computer systems. The program teaches students to develop algorithms using computational theory and the use of operating systems, compiler design, and software engineering with applied projects and analysis. The program integrates computer science with elements from computer information technology, data engineering, and information systems management.

As a foundation for the curriculum, students study mathematics and computation, and develop a strong framework in logic design and programming. In addition to gaining foundational knowledge in the key areas of the field, the program shows the relationship between computer science and a biblical worldview.

The Bachelor of Science in Computer Science degree requires completion of the following 120 hours, including six graduate-level credit hours:

Dance Minor (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Music

The minor in Dance offers students interested in studying dance at CCU to complement their career major or to enrich their college experience by providing a Christ-centered course of well-rounded dance study. The minor consists primarily of technique and performance-based classes giving new dancers a foundation in multiple styles, and experienced dancers the chance to continue their training at their current proficiency level. Courses include ballet, jazz, contemporary, tap, choreography, and performing ensembles. No audition is required for admission to the minor; an audition for placement in certain courses is arranged upon enrollment in the minor.

Students may earn the minor by completing the 20 credit hours found under the 'Program Requirements' tab and any required prerequisites.

Engineering Design Minor (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Science and Engineering

The Engineering Design minor teaches non-engineering students about the engineering design process and engineering value creation process.

"Engineering design is a process of devising a system, component, or process to meet desired needs and specifications within constraints. It is an iterative, creative, decision-making process in which the basic sciences, mathematics, and engineering sciences are applied to convert resources into solutions."

(ABET) Students discover engineering thinking, how engineering leads to value creation, and engineering's potential impact on the world.

School

School of Education

The Elementary Education Licensure Program graduates earn a Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts for Elementary Education. This major is an essential component due to the interdisciplinary character and comprehensive coverage of academic knowledge and skills elementary teachers need to promote student learning and success. The elementary licensure program is 121 credit hours and offers supervised clinical practice experiences in diverse school settings. Upon program completion, the teacher candidate will have met all requirements for an institutional recommendation for an Initial Colorado Teacher License with an endorsement in K-6 Elementary Education and an endorsement in K-12 Culturally and Linguistically Diverse (CLD) Education.

Students in the Elementary Education Licensure program may select the Classical Elementary Education track, giving students the opportunity to study traditional approaches to education rooted in western civilization and culture. Information on the Classical Elementary Education program requirements can be found under the 'Program Requirements' tab.

CCU graduates of the Elementary Licensure Program earn four CCU Areas of Emphasis: Biblical Studies, English, Reading, and Social Studies.

The Elementary Education Licensure program, with an endorsement in K-6 Elementary Education and an endorsement in K-12 Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Education, requires the following 121 credit hours, including 850+ Clinical Practice Hours in schools:

General Education (27 credit hours)

Liberal Arts Major Core (34 credit hours)

Elementary Education Professional Core (60 credit hours)

Classical Elementary Education Track

Elementary education licensure students have the option of completing the Classical Elementary Education Track. This unique track provides students the opportunity to study traditional approaches to education rooted in western civilization and culture, employing the historic curriculum and pedagogy of the seven liberal arts in order to cultivate men and women characterized by Truth, wisdom, virtue, and eloquence. Students also choose 2 philosophy courses as part of this track. This track does not yield eligibility to apply for a K-12 Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Education endorsement.

School of Humanities and Social Sciences

The English major provides excellent pre-professional preparation to pursue careers in writing and journalism and for graduate study. The major offers students an opportunity to explore the various genres and rich heritage of English literature, to develop advanced skills in creative and expository writing, interpretation and literary criticism, listening, and oral communication, and to understand the history and structure of the English language.

Graduates of the English Major will be able to:

1. Read critically and analyze texts across a variety of genres in papers that feature clear, substantive, correct, and logical English
2. Master the core content of American, British, and World literature and locate individual literary texts and authors in the context of historical literary development
3. Create poetry, fiction, and non-fiction works with imagination and purpose
4. Define and accurately employ common terms of literary criticism and theory and describe the development of the language and field of English
5. Discern Christian elements and implications of literary works, including in student's own creative writing
6. Articulate analytical processes in clear, substantive, and logical oral presentations

Students interested in teaching English may earn an endorsement for Secondary English/Language Arts Licensure Program: BA English by completing the English major and the appropriate requirements of the School of Education.

The Bachelor of Arts in English requires completion of the following 120 credits:

Entrepreneurship, BS (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Business and Leadership

The Bachelor of Science in Entrepreneurship provides a robust foundation in business and prepares students to launch their own businesses as entrepreneurs or creatively contribute as intrapreneurs inside existing businesses. Students will learn all facets of the business creation process to include new product development, technology integration, financing new ventures, and the operations behind a business. They will also draft their own business plans and, if a superior idea is discovered, potentially follow the plan to launch a real-world business.

Students in the Bachelor of Science in Entrepreneurship major may apply for the CUS Dual Degree Programs, earning both their Entrepreneurship major and courses that can be applied toward the Business Administration, MBA (CAGS) in the College of Adult and Graduate Studies (CAGS). Additional information on the Entrepreneurship Dual Degree program is below.

The Bachelor of Science in Entrepreneurship requires completion of the following 120 credit hours:

Liberal Arts for Education and K-12 Special Education, BA (CUS)

Program Information

College

School

College of Undergraduate Studies

School of Education

Special Education: Generalist Licensure graduates earn a Bachelor of Arts in two majors: Liberal Arts for Education and K-12 Special Education. The Liberal Arts for Education Major is required because of its interdisciplinary character and comprehensive coverage of academic knowledge and skills required for special education teachers. Students will also receive a second major, K-12 Special Education. The Special Education: Generalist Licensure program is 120 credit hours and offers supervised clinical practice experiences in elementary, middle, and high school settings for students aged 5-21. Upon program completion, the candidate has met all requirements for an institutional recommendation for an Initial Colorado Teacher License with an Endorsement in the area of K-12 Special Education Generalist.

Students in the Special Education: Generalist Licensure BA may choose the Dual Degree program track (see CUS Dual Degree Programs), earning their Special Education: Generalist program BA degree and nine graduate-level credit hours that can be applied toward CCU's Special Education, MEd (CAGS). Course requirements for the Dual Degree program are listed under the 'Program Requirements' tab.

CCU graduates of the Special Education: Generalist Licensure program are also eligible to apply for a Colorado Teaching Endorsement in K-6 Elementary Education upon successfully passing the Colorado-approved Elementary Education licensure exam.

CCU graduates of the Special Education: Generalist Licensure program earn three CCU areas of emphasis: Biblical Studies, Reading Literacy, and Social Studies.

The Special Education: Generalist Licensure program, traditional track, requires completion of 120 credit hours:

Professional Licensure Disclosure

Colorado Christian University offers several academic programs which lead to professional licensure in the state of Colorado and, in some programs, prepare students for a national exam. All students should be aware that states vary in their educational and professional requirements depending on the profession. Some states require specific educational requirements, clinical requirements, accreditation requirements, or exam requirements. See professional licensure disclosures for details.

School of Humanities and Social Sciences

As the world becomes increasingly interconnected, both challenges and opportunities arise. The vision of the Colorado Christian University Global Studies major is to form graduates equipped to address these challenges, and to leverage the opportunities this interconnectedness presents for advancing a Christian worldview, sharing the good news of the gospel, and knowledgeably engaging the nations of the world, whether at home or abroad.

To implement this vision, the program adopts an interdisciplinary approach, synthesizing methods and insights from such fields as cultural anthropology, geopolitics and diplomacy, history, missiology, business, linguistics, geography, economics, and more, into a cohesive understanding of the world today. Whereas the secular Global Studies student is taught to view the world in terms of neo-Marxist ideology or Critical Theory, the CCU student adds to his or her intercultural competence a firm grounding in a Christian, pro-Western, and conservative worldview.

Upon graduation, students are prepared to pursue careers at home or abroad in such areas as diplomacy, international business, international law, public relations, foreign service, traditional mission, journalism, or service with non-governmental and intergovernmental organizations. They are prepared to leverage their broad base of knowledge, interdisciplinary skills, critical thinking, and writing skills to pursue graduate study in law, economics, business, anthropology, history, and more. Most importantly, CCU Global Studies graduates are equipped to effectively and eloquently engage the world with grace and truth, contributing positively and professionally in their chosen fields.

All Global Studies majors are required to complete an international experience with CCU, consisting of one of the following, subject to approval by the Dean of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences:

- a CCU2theWorld International Mission Trip,
- an international academic travel course,
- a GLS325 International Practicum international internship, international research experience, or other pre-professional international experience (a domestic internship would not normally count),
- THE385 Field Experience Intercul Min field experience in Intercultural Ministry,
- a study abroad semester,
- other international experiences, if pre-approved by program director.

Graduates of the Global Studies Major will be able to:

1. Articulate a Christian, conservative, pro-Western worldview, defending it against alternative ideologies, including neo-Marxism and Critical Theory.
2. Utilize an interdisciplinary approach to analyze the complexities of globalization and its social, economic, political, and cultural dimensions, connecting these global issues to local and regional contexts.
3. Demonstrate intercultural communicative competence, cultural intelligence, and second language skills to communicate effectively with people from diverse cultures and worldviews, facilitating evangelism and understanding in both local and global contexts.
4. Apply critical thinking, analytical, and writing skills to explain how local circumstances influence global events and vice versa, enabling informed discussions about contemporary issues.
5. Design a thoughtful post-graduation vocational plan that reflects a commitment to engaging with global issues, guided by a Christian perspective and a vision for impacting the world with grace and truth.

In the History major, students develop a broad understanding of the great tradition of Western intellectual, political, religious, and cultural history.

Emphasis is placed on historical knowledge and the skill of evaluating competing narratives of the past. The program is designed to also assist students in developing a Christian perspective of history. Upon graduation, students are prepared to pursue graduate studies in history, law, politics, theology, as well as a variety of careers that involve research, analysis, writing, politics, education, journalism, business, and leadership.

Graduates of the History major will be able to:

1. Articulate an understanding of the significant historical trends, events, and developments within Western Civilization.
2. Demonstrate a broad knowledge of important events, persons, developments, and interpretations of American history.
3. Compare and contrast various philosophies of history and schools of historical interpretation.
4. Conduct independent historical research, primary source analysis, and historical writing.
5. Develop a Christian philosophy of history and an understanding of the implications of Christianity for the study of history.

Students interested in teaching history in a public school setting may earn an endorsement for History with Secondary Education Licensure, BA (CUS) by completing the History major and the appropriate requirements of the School of Education.

Intercultural Ministry Minor (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Theology

Colorado Christian University trains students to impact the world for Christ through critical engagement in a major of their choice. The Intercultural Ministry Minor broadens the impact of this training by preparing students to apply this knowledge and skill within intercultural contexts. The minor teaches students how to interpret the Scriptures accurately and communicate truth clearly across cultural boundaries. The minor assists students with placement in nonprofit positions upon graduation.

Students may earn a minor in the field by completing the 18 credit hours listed under the 'Program Requirements' tab and any required prerequisites.

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Business and Leadership

Students who are majoring in an SBL degree that requires the Business Core (34 credits) may add a minor in International Business. Because business is increasingly conducted across international borders, graduates with an understanding of different cultures, markets, and international business practices are in demand. Obtaining an International Business Minor will give you an understanding of the economic, financial, and cultural differences across countries. It can also provide a broad background in international management and marketing.

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Business and Leadership

Whatever a Christian does, they should do it for the glory of God and treat it as their mission field. This minor prepares students to see their business as missions and especially to be ready to start a new business through entrepreneurship in an unreached are of the world. Students will learn how to ideate, create business plans, operate in overseas areas that may be hostile to the Gospel, and witness with deeds and words to the truth of Jesus Christ and His redeeming work for humanity. The goal is to have businesses that make a profit and also make a positive impact on employees, customers, and the local community for Christ.

Ministry Management, BA (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Theology

The Bachelor of Arts in Ministry Management is a challenging degree that combines biblical and theological preparation for ministry with a solid foundation in business and leadership courses. This degree equips individuals for Christian ministry while being bi-vocational in business, for working in business during further graduate study in theology, and over time for a position as a Ministry Manager or Executive pastor. This bachelor's degree not only will serve for personal enrichment but also as a foundation for ministry and further graduate study.

Ministry Management majors select an emphasis in either Biblical Studies or Theology, providing maximum flexibility in tailoring an academic program that positions students for graduate school and career goals.

The Ministry Management major with Biblical Studies emphasis requires completion of the following 120 credits:

General Education (48 credit hours)

Major Core (61 credit hours)

Electives (11 credit hours)

The Ministry Management major with Theology emphasis requires completion of the following 120 credits:

For students who are interested in pursuing a career that will allow them to use their musical gifts and talents in ministry, CCU offers the Bachelor of Music - Worship Arts degree. This degree combines elements of Biblical principles of leadership and music production and engineering with a true music degree program, so that students are philosophically, practically, and spiritually equipped for effective leadership and administration of a music/worship ministry within the Body of Christ. The Worship Arts degree also offers excellent preparation for graduate school or seminary.

The Worship Arts program focuses on the development and practice of worship throughout history and of the contemporary church. While not promoting a particular style of worship, it equips students to be knowledgeable and capable in most forms of Protestant worship. Particular attention is paid to working with all instruments including voices, along with a distinct performance and internship requirement.

The Bachelor of Music in Worship Arts requires completion of the following 128 credits:

General Education Core (45 credit hours)

Music Core (38 credit hours)

Worship Arts Core (43 credit hours)

Electives Core (2 credit hours)

Nursing, BSN (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

The Bachelor of Science in Nursing program is a traditional four-year nursing degree with an upper-division nursing major (junior-senior year) that prepares graduates for RN licensure and professional practice. Students enter the College of Undergraduate Studies (CUS) as a nursing major during freshman or sophomore year. Students entering at the start of freshman year may apply for direct admit status allowing them seamless progression into the nursing major core provided progression criteria are met. This program is comprised of general education, behavioral, and biological science pre-requisite coursework totaling 60 credit hours. The nursing major includes theory (in-seat), laboratory (skills/simulation), and clinical components. Nursing courses are delivered in a blended format for greater flexibility. The nursing major core courses in CUS are offered over four semesters in a traditional academic format with summers off.

The general education and biological science curriculum, grounded in biblical truth, is intended to provide a broad-based knowledge of the arts and sciences required for students to understand the complex world of healthcare and to be prepared for success in the nursing major courses. As is consistent with the University's mission, there is an emphasis on spiritual formation leading to the integration of learning, faith, and practice as students provide compassionate care.

This practice discipline degree emphasizes clinical judgment, professionalism, moral leadership, evidence-based nursing practice, technology management, and interprofessional communication within healthcare delivery. Competency, character, and calling are fostered in an effort to prepare nurses to practice nursing as ministry. CCU challenges students to become exceptionally competent knowledgeable nurse leaders who think critically to impact their world and transform healthcare through the uniqueness of Christ-inspired practice. Nursing at CCU is a scientific discipline and a sacred calling.

The Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree requires completion of the following 120 credit hours:

General Education/Behavioral Science: (39 credit hours)

Biological Sciences: (21 credit hours)

Nursing Major Core: BSN (60 credit hours)

Professional Licensure Disclosure

Colorado Christian University offers several academic programs which lead to professional licensure in the state of Colorado and, in some programs, prepare students for a national exam. All students should be aware that states vary in their educational and professional requirements depending on the profession. Some states require specific educational requirements, clinical requirements, accreditation requirements, or exam requirements.

See professional licensure disclosures for details.

"While God's glory is written all over his work, in the wilderness the letters are capitalized" - Roderick Nash

The Bachelor of Science in Outdoor Leadership prepares students for careers in or related to the outdoor industry. According to the Outdoor Industry Association, outdoor recreation generates $689 billion in consumer spending and 4.3 million direct jobs. Students will develop a strong, Bible-based foundation in their skills and leadership to prepare them for this vast industry. We accomplish this by taking CLASS outside to pursue these goals:

Character Formation

Leadership Development

Authentic Community

Skills Acquisition

Spiritual Transformation

Outdoor Leadership Minor (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Business and Leadership

Facilitated outdoor experiences may be the most effective way to transform people into Kingdom leaders, to be catalysts for Christ. This program is not about recreation; it is about re-creation. The minor can also create vocational fitness for outdoor industries or outdoor ministries. The goals of the Outdoor Leadership Minor are:

- Spiritual transformation - moving people from their actual to potential in Christ; and able to use outdoor experiences to encourage people to say "yes" to God.
- Leadership development - the Scriptures indicate God's strategy for developing leaders almost always involved transformative outdoor experiences. Development is accelerated outdoors due to the experiential challenges faced, consequences of decision making, and short feedback loops.
- Character formation - developing perseverance and resiliency, embracing challenges, and growing in Christ-likeness for the sake of others.
- Outdoor skills acquisition - sound skills are prerequisites for risk management in leading self or others in any outdoor context, and a pioneering witness for Christ in the secular outdoor workplace is competency.

Students are required to experience a 7-day backpack trip where they are introduced to backcountry skills and use of God's creation for spiritual transformation. They must also learn the biblical and theological basis for outdoor leadership; outdoor pedagogy, theory, and contexts; and management and administration of outdoor programs. Elective courses include many outdoor skills and certifications. Courses go to nearby locations such as Rocky Mountain National Park and Colorado "14ers," as well as Grand Canyon National Park.

Faculty are practicing professionals with many decades of cumulative field experience, advanced degrees, and advanced certifications. Most also teach at the graduate level.

Philosophy, BA (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Theology

The goal of philosophy is to answer many of the fundamental questions such as: What is reality? What is the nature and extent of knowledge? What is the source of our morality? What is the purpose of beauty? Is the Christian faith rational? How do I live a life that is guided by wisdom? Philosophy also draws on all areas of human endeavor (theology, science, law, psychology, the arts, politics, history, economics, and popular culture) and teaches us the skills to think more critically about them. As such, many students find it deeply enhancing of their other undergraduate majors or programs.

The Bachelor of Arts in Philosophy requires completion of the following 120 credits:

Philosophy Minor (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Theology

The Philosophy minor develops critical thinking skills, exposes students to the great ideas of history, teaches them to reflect more deeply on the world around them, and allows them to intellectually engage with their Christian faith and develop responses to the challenges that they face. Ultimately, philosophy aids future Christian leaders by teaching them to love God with their minds, helping them to cultivate Christian character, and giving them the tools to approach the world thoughtfully and solve problems.

Students may earn a minor in the field by completing the 18 credit hours listed under the 'Program Requirements' tab and any required prerequisites.

Pre-Law Cross Disciplinary Study (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Business and Leadership

The cross disciplinary study in Pre-Law helps students to determine if they have an aptitude and interest in law and provides a background for law school coursework. This emphasis helps students build a strong liberal arts education with challenging courses that require them to analyze and evaluate conflicting ideas and to communicate effectively orally and in writing. Pre-Law studies is designed to complement any CCU major and to help students determine if they should invest in further education in law school.

Students may earn a cross disciplinary study in Pre-Law by completing the following 12 credit hours and any corresponding prerequisites.

Graduation Requirements

The faculty recommends students in the B.S. in Pre-Medical Profession to the Board of Trustees as candidates for graduation when they have completed the following requirements.

1. Completion of a total of 120 credits, including all general education, electives, and Pre-Medical Profession major program requirements.
2. A letter grade of D or better and a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or better in all CCU coursework, and a GPA of 2.0 or higher for all courses specified for the major.
3. Completion of 180 hours of ministry/community service and 180 chapel credits. Transfer students are required to complete 45 hours of ministry/community service and 45 chapel credits each year of attendance at CCU. For further details on ministry/community service, see the Life Directions Center (LDC) tab under the CUS Student Life page of this catalog. For further details on chapel credits, see the Campus Ministries section on the CUS Student Life page of this catalog.
4. Meet the CCU Residency Requirement (see CUS Academic Policies).
5. Acceptable performance on exit exams, as required by the faculty.
6. Formal and timely application for graduation by the date specified by the University Registrar.
7. No outstanding financial obligation to the University.

Politics, BA (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Humanities and Social Sciences

The vision of the Colorado Christian University Politics major is to form graduates who will think as free Christians, live as responsible citizens of our Republic, and embark on a lifetime of statesmanship. To implement this vision, the Politics program educates Christian students in a broad understanding of the art and science of politics, based on a biblical foundation and worldview. It trains them to apply biblical knowledge, Christian virtues, and ethical principles to politics and also helps them to develop entry-level professional skills necessary for success in politics and related fields.

The study of Politics at Colorado Christian University deliberately combines philosophic breadth and theological insight with practical skills and engagement with the contemporary world. Students explore human nature and ethics alongside of political and economic power and history. They are led to grapple with the meaning and significance of the American Founding, the relation of virtue and liberty, the rule of law and human happiness, America's role in the world, and the current political landscape. Within the Politics major itself, students may choose an emphasis in Public Policy or American Politics, if so desired.

The Politics major at Colorado Christian University is designed to prepare students for a number of careers, including those of public service, criminal justice, journalism, public policy research, and political consulting. Students will also be prepared for graduate school or law school. The major doubles easily with other majors such as Business, Communications, Global Studies, History, or Psychology.

Graduates of the Politics Major will be able to:

1. Identify key figures and articulate important ideas of political philosophy, and deploy them to analyze American politics, institutions, policies, and international relations.
2. Articulate Constitutional principles and apply them to the institutions and challenges in current American politics, both at home and abroad.
3. Articulate a philosophy of statesmanship, and integrate politics with a biblical worldview.
4. Demonstrate advanced knowledge of comparative political systems, international relations, and foreign policy.
5. Employ critical thinking and analysis, and communicate and defend ideas persuasively and cogently, on the basis of evidence and sound research.
6. (American Politics Emphasis). Demonstrate an advanced knowledge of American institutions, the constitutional order, and American political culture; and articulate and apply the principles of individual freedom, limited government, and the rights and duties of citizenship.
7. (Public Policy Emphasis). Demonstrate advanced understanding of the American public policy process, and perform effective public policy analysis and writing.

The Bachelor of Arts in Politics requires completion of the following 120 credits:

Pre-Law Studies Minor (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Business and Leadership

The Pre-Law Studies Minor helps students to determine if they have an aptitude and interest in law and provides a background for law school coursework. This minor helps students build a strong liberal arts education with challenging courses that require them to analyze and evaluate conflicting ideas and to communicate effectively orally and in writing. The Pre-Law Studies Minor is designed to complement any CCU major and to help students determine if they should invest in further education in law school.

Pre-Physical Therapy, BS (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Science and Engineering

The Bachelor of Science in Pre-Physical Therapy provides robust preparation for doctoral programs in physical therapy, fulfilling all recommended prerequisites for the majority of PT programs. The program produces students well versed in the field of Kinesiology with the additional scientific training to be prepared for the rigors of a doctoral-level program. Students graduating from this program are prepared for further education and a career which allows them to mirror Christ in their profession.

The Bachelor of Science in Pre-Physical Therapy requires completion of the following 120 credits:

General Education Core (49 credit hours)

Major Core (62 credit hours)

General Electives (9 credit hour)

Electives

Complete 9 general elective credits.Additional Comments:*Admission Requirements*Graduation Requirements

The faculty recommends students in the B.S. in Pre-Physical Therapy to the Board of Trustees as candidates for graduation when they have completed the following requirements.

1. Completion of a total of 120 credits, including all general education, electives, and Pre-Physical Therapy major program requirements.
2. A letter grade of D or better and a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or better in all CCU coursework, and a GPA of 2.0 or higher for all courses specified for the major.
3. Completion of 180 hours of ministry/community service and 180 chapel credits. Transfer students are required to complete 45 hours of ministry/community service and 45 chapel credits each year of attendance at CCU. For further details on ministry/community service, see the Life Directions Center (LDC) tab under the CUS Student Life page of this catalog. For further details on chapel credits, see the Campus Ministries section on the CUS Student Life page of this catalog.
4. Meet the CCU Residency Requirement (see CUS Academic Policies).
5. Acceptable performance on exit exams, as required by the faculty.
6. Formal and timely application for graduation by the date specified by the University Registrar.
7. No outstanding financial obligation to the University.

Psychology, BA (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Humanities and Social Sciences

The Psychology major within the College of Undergraduate Studies (CUS) seeks to develop students who can live out their faith within the context of the discipline of psychology. Classroom instruction and experiences focus not only on the content of psychology (theoretical and experimental psychology), but also on the character development of our students challenging them to engage in personal spiritual formation which quite naturally impacts how they understand psychology. This mixture of classes allows our students to understand, test, and apply current psychological theories within their personal lives and real situations. The emphasis in the psychology major is to equip our students to think critically about current psychological theories, principles, and research through the lens of foundational Christian beliefs.

The Psychology major prepares students for careers in psychology and related fields. At the bachelor's level, several job options exist for graduates in psychology, such as paraprofessionals in clinics, hospitals and schools, case workers in social service, and staff in church and parachurch ministries. Those intending to practice psychology professionally, however, will need graduate-level training toward the master's degree or the doctorate. The undergraduate program develops a broad-based education that creates a deeper understanding of human functioning and equips students to succeed in graduate school. Elective courses allow students to "round out" their studies to prepare not only for graduate training but to enter life with key relational, spiritual, and emotional competencies.

Graduates of the Psychology major will be able to:

1. Analyze and evaluate Biblical evidence for the five themes of a Biblical and psychological view of human nature.
2. Define and evaluate the model of authentic sexual relationships and the model for Christian marriage.
3. Describe and differentiate various personality theories, psychological disorders, and clinical counseling methods.
4. Create and evaluate research that includes cognitive and physiological processes.
5. Describe and explain the various sub-disciplines within psychology.

In collaboration with the College of Adult and Graduate Studies (CAGS), students majoring in Psychology can opt for one of three emphases:

- BA Psychology with an Emphasis in Biblical Studies
- BA Psychology with an Emphasis in Clinical Counseling
- BA Psychology with an Emphasis in Criminal Justice

Students who choose one of the emphases above earn their Psychology major in their first three years in CCU's Dual Degree programs, and have 10-12 graduate-level credit hours that can be applied toward a master's degree in CAGS. Additional information on the Psychology Dual Degree program is below.

Strategic Communication and Digital Media, BA (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Humanities and Social Sciences

The Bachelor of Arts in Strategic Communication and Digital Media prepares students with the professional skills they need for careers in public relations, strategic communication, marketing, and digital media. The Strategic Communication and Digital Media major is unique, offering a broad educational framework for professional and career roles in churches, nonprofits, and for-profit organizations wishing to communicate effectively in the new digital environment. A degree in Strategic Communication and Digital Media enables graduates to be digitally-savvy and able to think creatively and critically, with solid writing, visual, and technical skills, and the capacity to think strategically and biblically about the role of communication in society.

Graduates of the Strategic Communication and Digital Media major will be able to:

1. Describe the history, theories, main actors, industry standards, and future trends of strategic communication and digital media.
2. Produce and present innovative and responsive strategic communication campaigns and digital media content utilizing traditional, social, and digital media platforms.
3. Demonstrate writing proficiency across various modes of writing for both academic and professional contexts.
4. Demonstrate technical proficiency in leading industry software, audiovisual production equipment, social media management, and graphic design, including ethical use of artificial intelligence in visual storytelling.
5. Generate and present a robust portfolio, including journalistic writing, social media content, public relations campaigns, video kits, graphic design, social/digital media video demos, and visual storytelling materials.
6. Integrate faith with strategic communication knowledge and digital media skills.

The Strategic Communication and Digital Media major has two specific emphases, Public Relations and Digital Media, as well as a general emphasis, each of which positions graduates to be on the leading edge of the changes occurring in the communication industry.

The Bachelor of Arts in Strategic Communication and Digital Media requires completion of the following 120 credits:

School of Science and Engineering

The Bachelor of Science in Sports Management is based on an interdisciplinary curriculum that combines a thorough kinesiology education with additional training in management. This combination provides graduates the tools and training to play, organize, and manage programs associated with sports or physical activities of all types and at all levels, and does so while emphasizing biblical principles and a Christian world. Students graduating from this program are highly qualified to lead in careers related to sports, health, and fitness, while also being uniquely qualified as entrepreneurs in these areas.

The Sports Management degree also provides the opportunity to complete a double major in Business Administration and Management by fulfilling the Business Administration and Management degree requirements. The student would need to follow the policy that each degree, regardless of overlap, would contain a minimum of 30 unique credits.

Sacred Music and Literature Minor (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Music

The Minor in Sacred Music and Literature constitutes an interdisciplinary course of study in Christian aesthetics, art and music history, poetry, and liturgical practice. The program provides students with the opportunity to integrate their studies in theology, history, music, art, and literature with broader aspects and trends in the church and the world. Through a carefully selected series of classes from various schools in the college, and culminating in two semesters of unique interdisciplinary seminars, students will go beyond their initial exposure through the general education core, studying each art form and its history in the context of the church in-depth. The minor culminates in a publicly presented research project, demonstrating students' readiness to serve the church, pursue graduate study if desired, and communicate effectively with the world.

Students may earn a minor in the field by completing 18 credit hours (courses vary depending on area of major study).

School of Education

The Special Education Minor is available to a wide range of majors on campus, including, but not limited to: youth ministry, business, psychology, and music students. These options are beneficial for CCU students who are enrolled in a major outside of the School of Education and plan to work in a setting where they will interact, counsel, lead, or work on behalf of children and youth. The Special Education Minor does not lead to a Colorado teacher's license.

Students may earn a minor in the field by completing the following 18 credit hours.

Theology, BA (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Theology

Students who major in Theology become perceptive, critical readers of the biblical text and of theological literature. They are able to interpret the Bible for themselves and for others confidently. The major provides a foundation for seminary or graduate studies, and based on the minor, for various entry-level ministry, missions, education, and social service opportunities.

Students in the Bachelor of Arts in Theology may apply for the CUS Dual Degree Programs, earning their Theology major in their first three years at CCU, and the Theological Studies, MA (CAGS) in their fourth year. Course requirements for the Dual Degree program are listed below.

The Theology Major requires completion of the following 120 credits:

Theology, BA (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Theology

Students who major in Theology become perceptive, critical readers of the biblical text and of theological literature. They are able to interpret the Bible for themselves and for others confidently. The major provides a foundation for seminary or graduate studies, and based on the minor, for various entry-level ministry, missions, education, and social service opportunities.

Students in the Bachelor of Arts in Theology may apply for the CUS Dual Degree Programs, earning their Theology major in their first three years at CCU, and the Theological Studies, MA (CAGS) in their fourth year. Course requirements for the Dual Degree program are listed below.

The Theology Major requires completion of the following 120 credits:

General Education (45 credit hours)

Major Core (39 credit hours)

Electives (36 credit hours)

Completion Requirement

Dual Degree Option

Students accepted in the Dual Degree program complete their Bachelor of Arts in Theology degree in three years, then complete their Master of Arts in Theological Studies in their fourth year through the College of Adult and Graduate Studies (CAGS). Included in the bachelor's degree course requirements are nine master's level credit hours that satisfy both undergraduate and graduate degree requirements. To satisfy CCU graduate program course requirements, students must earn a letter grade of B- or better in the master's level courses taken in their undergraduate degree. (Cum GPA and letter grade requirements for the undergraduate degree remain the same.) All admissions requirements of the Master of Arts in Theological Studies must be fulfilled. Information on admissions can be found on the CAGS admissions page. The Bachelor of Arts in Theology Dual Degree Major requires completion of the following 120 credits: General Education (45 credit hours), Major Core (30 credit hours), Master of Arts in Theological Studies coursework (9 credit hours), and General Electives (36 credit hours). The Master of Arts in Theological Studies requires completion of an additional 30 credit hours.

Admission Requirements

Graduation Requirements

The faculty recommends students in the B.A. in Theology to the Board of Trustees as candidates for graduation when they have completed the following requirements.

1. Completion of a total of 120 credits, including all general education, electives, and Theology major program requirements.
2. A letter grade of D or better and a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or better in all CCU coursework, and a GPA of 2.0 or higher for all courses specified for the major.
3. Completion of 180 hours of ministry/community service and 180 chapel credits. Transfer students are required to complete 45 hours of ministry/community service and 45 chapel credits each year of attendance at CCU. For further details on ministry/community service, see the Life Directions Center (LDC) tab under the CUS Student Life page of this catalog. For further details on chapel credits, see the Campus Ministries section on the CUS Student Life page of this catalog.
4. Meet the CCU Residency Requirement (see CUS Academic Policies).
5. Acceptable performance on exit exams, as required by the faculty.
6. Formal and timely application for graduation by the date specified by the University Registrar.
7. No outstanding financial obligation to the University.

Theatre Minor (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Music

The Theatre Minor, as an addition to a major field of study, offers students interested in theatre an opportunity to develop the unique skill set required for theatre performance. In addition to practical work in acting and theatre production, the students' academic understanding of theatre history and dramatic literature will be benefited by a solidly Christ-centered world view. A major focus of the program is to help young Christian artists develop excellence in their field and a personal Christian ethic from within which to pursue their artistry.

Students may earn a minor in the field by completing the 19 credit hours listed under the 'Program Requirements' tab.

Teaching and Learning program graduates earn a BA in Teaching and Learning as well as a minor in an approved CCU program. With up to 21 elective credit hours, students have options for a second minor, or study abroad. In addition, students can earn 3-6 graduate-level credits in this program that can be applied to the Curriculum and Instruction, MA (CAGS) program in the College of Adult and Graduate Studies.

This non-licensure program is 120 credit hours and offers supervised clinical practice experiences in a wide variety of school settings. Upon program completion, the student can apply their knowledge and skills to a variety of vocations such as: youth ministry, non-licensed teaching opportunities, non/for-profit K-12 business positions, and K-12 publishing positions.

CCU graduates of the Teaching and Learning Major earn a CCU Area of Emphasis in Biblical Studies.

The Bachelor of Arts major in Teaching and Learning requires completion of 120 credit hours, including 100+ clinical practice hours in a school:

School of Science and Engineering

The Bachelor of Science in Engineering incorporates mathematics, sciences, data analysis, economics and other social and engineering sciences to solve problems and add value to complex processes or systems. Beyond general math, science and engineering knowledge, skills, and abilities, students are required to specialize in an emphasis that further contextualizes where the plan to practice engineering upon graduation. Example specializations include Industrial & Systems Engineering, Technical Project Management, and Computer Science.

After admission to the University, students may enroll in the BS in Engineering program with:

1. Recommended high school or transfer cumulative GPA of 3.5
2. Recommended composite ACT of 28 or composite SAT of 1310-1340 (post 2016 version)
3. Recommended mathematics ACT of 26 or mathematics SAT of 620 (post 2016 version)

The BS in Engineering requires completion of the following 123 credits:

Young Life Leadership Minor (CUS)

Program Information

College

College of Undergraduate Studies

School

School of Theology

The Young Life Leadership minor, one of only three such programs in the country, consists of seven classes (18 credit hours) designed to train the student for service in Young Life's ministry of evangelism and discipleship. Each class is designed to help the student do two things: reflect on the theological, sociological and developmental basis for Young Life's evangelism and create tangible opportunities to implement these understandings with middle school and/or high school students. Students not involved in the Young Life ministry are invited to be a part of this minor: much in this curriculum has a broad spectrum of vocational application.

Students may earn a minor in the field by completing the 18 credit hours listed under the 'Program Requirements' tab.
